WANTED—BIDS:

THEY GO OUT.

THE CABLE ROAD EXCAVATORS REFUSE TO WORK.

And All the Men Engaged in the Construction of the New Lines Walk Out with Them—Nearly 300 Men Quit Work.

The strike among the workmen on the cable-car line is well on, and work is at a standstill. Yesterday morning, according to the programme published in THE TIMES, a mass meeting was held on the vacant lot at the corner of Fort and Third streets. The meeting was announced for 6:30, but it was an hour later before the crowd had gathered. Even at that early hour many people were on the street, and the strike was the sole topic of conversation. The crowd that gathered at the corner numbered between 300 and 400. They were perfectly orderly, not a drunk man was noticed, and they went about the purposes of the meeting in a business-like way.

In session, Chairman Phelan called the meeting to order, and made a few remarks explaining the cut proposed by the Cable Car Company, and the object for which the meeting was held. His words were received with cheers and the clapping of hands, and then some one called out to read the resolutions. These had been prepared the night before, and nearly all of the crowd had read them. In response to the call, the chairman read as follows:

WHEREAS, the Los Angeles Cable Road Company of the City of Los Angeles, through its superintendent, Charles Foreman, has proposed the reduction of the wages of the workmen of said cable road;

AND WHEREAS, the proposed reduced wages will be quite insufficient for the support of life and human respectability; and WHEREAS, the said reduction is unreasonably unjust and unequal;

Resolved, by all branches of workmen employed in the construction of said cable road, that unless the present rate of wages be maintained, and the part taken by every participant in this movement be unconditionally pardoned by the company, it will be guaranteed by the personal statement or written certificate of Charles Foreman and W. R. Davis, we quit work.

And we further demand that a copy of these resolutions be handed to the president of the company for his consideration. On motion, the word "proposed" in the second paragraph was stricken out, and "executed" was substituted for "pardoned" in the fourth. With these alterations, the resolutions were adopted by a shout, and then a motion was made to quit work until an answer was received from the company. This was carried unanimously, and a call was made for a meeting at 10 o'clock.

A Mr. Lynch, a very intelligent workman, mounted the stand. He stated that the reduction in the wages of the excavators was the beginning of a movement to extend to the laborers all over the city. That if this should be successful, all other corporations would follow in the same line, and the result would be that the 5000 or 6000 laborers of the city would be forced to work for wages that would barely allow them to live. He said that he was a native-born American, and that he was a citizen of the city of Los Angeles. He said that he was a man of peace, and that he was a man of peace. He said that he was a man of peace, and that he was a man of peace.

The meeting adjourned and the crowd dispersed to their homes without making any demonstration whatever. A committee was appointed to wait on the Mayor and other city officials and ask their assistance in bringing the affair to an end. The committee was composed of Messrs. Phelan, Lynch, and Haggard. They were to wait on the Mayor and other city officials and ask their assistance in bringing the affair to an end.

MR. JEWETT was yesterday by a TIMES reporter and questioned as to the probability the company would pursue. He said that as yet no policy had been determined upon, and nothing decisive would be done until the return of President Crank, who is expected home Monday. The reason for the reduction, he said, was to conserve money. The company had learned that many of the contractors in the city were paying but $1.50 per day, and he didn't see why they should pay more than the contractors. He said that he had received a message from the Mayor in regard to the strike, and a reply was made to him. itated quite a number of the strikers. Everywhere the situation was being discussed. Public sympathy was generally with the strikers in striking on the reduction, but they were blamed by many for not going to work when the offer of wages was offered to them. They defended themselves by saying that if they had gone to work it would only have been for a short while, and then they would have been brought back from outside towns. They propose to stick by the clause in their resolutions which says that they must have a guarantee of the company that the clause is about the only thing that brings them condemnation from the outside.

A Few Office-seekers Are "Turned Over" by Gossips. The politicians have commenced work at last, and the friends of the open candidates and dark horses are figuring around the first named rustling outfit for votes and pledges, and the latter feeling around to see if they can get any of the fellows in the bushes. There would have been in case anything should be the other fellows out of the race. George H. Hutton will make a strong fight for the nomination for District Attorney, and may get it. Judges Gardner, Tuttle and O'Melveny all want to continue in their present places, and at least two of them are sure of a nomination.

Considerable pressure is being brought to bear on the city of Los Angeles to come out for Sheriff, and it may be that he will consent. In this case, Meredith will have to rustle, as Gard has a host of friends throughout the county, and he has the additional advantage of being a native-born American. But little has so far been heard about the District Attorneyship, and it is expected that the present incumbent, Judge Gardner, will be re-elected. It is an open secret that Mr. Puffy, the present incumbent, is exceedingly anxious to succeed himself, but it is not believed that he has the slightest show for the place. He has not been a success by any means, and the conduct of the office has given satisfaction to no one, and charges of carelessness and incompetence have been freely made. The lawyers of the city would probably put in a very vigorous kick against him in case he should come out for re-election.

On motion, the word "proposed" in the second paragraph was stricken out, and "executed" was substituted for "pardoned" in the fourth. ## TESTING POKER.

THE HERALD SQUIRMS IN GREAT SHAPE.

A Number of Gamblers Kick—They Don't Know Which Way to Turn—A Little Excitement in Poker-Circles Last Night—Will Fight.

All of the principal bar banks remain closed, with the exception of occasional "flyers" during the day for an hour or two, and an effort will be made to suppress even this. The poker rooms are all running, as it is claimed that this game is not included in the law, but a test case might be made on the "percentage" issue, as the "take-out" in a public game is certainly a percentage, being that part which is taken to the house. It is claimed that no faro was played at 1335 Commercial street, Friday night, as reported in THE TIMES yesterday morning, but that only four disconsolate gamblers were sitting around the table, seven-up. This statement, however, must be taken with a grain of allowance. Seven-up may have been the game when the officers came in, but it is not probable that they claim to have seen it, that faro was played during the evening. The hokey-poker game came at the Brunswick was running last night, however, beyond any shadow of doubt, between 9 and 10 o'clock, and there were between 15 and 20 men in the room. This place is said to be a "hot" place, but it can be got if the officers will give it a little attention. There was also some talk about Whipple's being running, but this is denied by the officers, and it is probably a mistake.

The frantic attempts of the Herald to carry water on both shoulders—that is, to protect the gamblers and to protect the public before the public as a great moral organ—is creating no end of amusement and considerable indignation. The Herald is a very old and venerable relic, and it is not to be wondered at that it is so. It is a relic of a bygone era, and it is not to be wondered at that it is so. It is a relic of a bygone era, and it is not to be wondered at that it is so.

Those whom the gods love may die young, but sometimes they can first become Coyotes. Mr. Ward McAllister has shaken New York to the center with his decision that of its 1,500,000 inhabitants, only 450 are "in society," but what is a society like? The editor of the Los Angeles Herald has decided that the Coyotes there shall only be a felicitous 50. Of this comfortable and sensible number only seven remain to be chosen; the others are to be left to the Coyotes. Of course the Coyotes, like everything else in Southern California, will grow, but at present are satisfied with their half-hundred.

The Ellis Club held their usual rehearsal and business meeting last Tuesday night. The selection of a soloist for the first concert, in July, has not been made, but it will probably be Miss C. Milner of San Francisco. Only 12 or 15 members of the club remain in the list of associate members.

There will be a meeting of the Los Angeles Cricket Club tomorrow night, at the office of Dr. Gresham, to arrange for summer sport in this line.

Miss M. E. Fette went to Long Beach on Saturday for her usual summer sojourn. Mrs. D. McFarland and daughter Katharine left on Friday for a week at Santa Barbara.

President Board of the University of Southern California, has returned from Boston. Miss M. Freeman of Dakota is visiting at the home of Mr. F. W. Ross, on South Hill street.

Mrs. Eva Cook of "The Parker" went to Santa Barbara yesterday, to be absent about three weeks.

Mrs. S. A. Wakelee of Long Beach came up on Thursday to the Ellis Club commencement.

Mrs. W. C. Furray and her daughter, Edith, left the city on Friday for a visit to San Francisco.

met a man he had known in a prior life. "Have you any property in this county?" was the next question. "Y-e-s," the truth slightly dawning upon him. "Are you ready to sell your property?" he asked. "I'll sell it before the 1st of July," he said. "Can't help it," said the collector, "if not ready to sell your property, you are a fool. I can't help it, your wages are garnished." He concluded he had a bad karma.

SOCIAL GOSSIP.

Notable Events of the Week Briefly Recorded. The week just ended has been literally and truthfully a quiet one. The only chronicle of the arrivals and departures of well-known people to this or that chosen point of summer sojourn. The various clubs still meet with fervor, but are upon the verge of summer dissolution, with the exception of the Oxymer, which never says die or dissolve; the Ellis, which is working hard for the opening concert; the Coyote, which is to be a joy forever, and the cricket and lawn tennis clubs, which now have their summer homes at the beach, and are having and soon the town will be emptied of its great leisure class, while the workers remain and bask their lucky stars that it is a California summer.

WOMAN'S CLUB. The regular fortnightly meeting of the Woman's Club was held yesterday afternoon at the Woman's Home. Mrs. L. V. Newton read a delightful paper on "Heidenkölein," a song of Heine's. "Heidenkölein," by Mrs. K. Hooker. Dr. Lummis then read a discursive paper on Goethe, and the club adjourned. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Graham at Pasadena, and will be the final meeting before the summer vacation.

TIE AND TRACK.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

They Will Not Build a New Road to San Francisco—Los Angeles People Building the Road—Other News Notes from Various Quarters.

That alleged Southern Pacific short line to the north has at last come to the surface and assumed tangible shape. There is a corps of engineers at work on the line, in fact, there are two corps, and they are pushing things as rapidly as possible, but not for the Southern Pacific. That road has nothing to do with the new line, much as it would like to gobble it up. The new line is entirely separate from any of the Southern Pacific schemes, and not a dollar of Southern Pacific money goes into its construction. The line has been confounded with the work of the Southern Pacific simply because the engineers have had little to say about their work. The people readily assumed that from the distant manner in which the line was going on the Southern Pacific must have something to do with it, and the engineers have not cared to correct that impression.

The fact of the business is the new line is projected by parties interested here in the city, though the names of those parties are not yet to be numbered. All the money necessary to construct a long tunnel, all operations consequent upon the survey are carried on in the city.

The line is to run, not from Newhall, Burbank, or the half dozen other points reported, but from Los Angeles, and its terminus is Santa Barbara. The correct route as already surveyed goes through the Caliente Pass, thence across the San Fernando Valley, crossing the property of the Lankershim Land Company and the old San Antonio river. The line then goes through about 12 miles of mountainous country to a point a little to the northwest of the Santa Susana Pass. The old Southern Pacific survey through the same country found it necessary to construct a long tunnel at the pass. The new line, by going to the right of the pass, gets off with a tunnel about one-third of the length of the old line. Emerging from this tunnel the line enters the Simi Valley, and passes within 2000 feet of the Simi Hotel. It goes on through the San Antonio valley, and then to the north, where it crosses the Ventura Canon, and then takes an almost direct course to Santa Barbara.

The two corps are working on each side of the Santa Clara River, one from Los Angeles to the river, and the other from the river to Santa Barbara. Work has been going on there for some time in a quiet way, and the survey will be completed in a month or so. The Southern Pacific, from the frequent interviews with some of its officials, has been trying to get the white gamblers to join the line, and some have gone so far as to state such things positively.

The Southern Pacific want to go out into the San Antonio Valley, and the lately had men through that country in an attempt to get a right of way. Thus far they have not accomplished much, as the people of the San Antonio Valley are not willing to exact enough out of them to build the road. A gentleman said yesterday that they wanted to build the road of the material, and that they were now being taken off the other lines, and the people are less willing to grant the right of way on that account.

The San Diego excursion train, the city at 3 o'clock yesterday morning with a good crowd. They return Monday.

A New Engine. The first of the new fire engines recently ordered by the city from the Ahrens Company of Cincinnati, O., which arrived a few days ago, was tested in the presence of the Fire Commissioners, the Fire Chief, a number of firemen and other spectators yesterday afternoon at the tanks in the vacant lot on Labor lane, and was a complete success in every respect. Eighty pounds of steam was raised in four or five minutes, and the fire was raised, and the ten seconds later water was thrown from the nozzles in two streams through 350 feet of hose. The engine is the finest that can come to this city, has the oil, but the engine is a relief valve, and every other improvement known in fire apparatus. It is the first of three which will be furnished by the Ahrens Company, which Maj. W. C. Furry is the agent in this city.

Prohibition. An old-day temperance meeting and general lovefeast was held in the Central Baptist Hall on Main street. Speeches were made and the coming campaign liberally discussed. Last night the Prohibitionists met on Main street, opposite Temple block, and formed in line with torches and transparencies, marched down to the Police House, then counter-marched and came up Main to Spring, and then down Spring to Main, and then up Main to the court-house. There the procession broke up, and crowded around the speaker's platform.

The public is responding generously to the appeals made on behalf of the Orphans' Home. It is a worthy object of charity and one in which every good citizen should feel a personal interest. The Los Angeles College does nobly in offering to donate the entire proceeds of the "Undergraduates' Evening," July 18th, to this charity. The Pavilion should be filled on this occasion, and a generous public avail itself of this opportunity to help make up the amount still needed.

What Am I to Do. The symptoms of biliousness are unhappy but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A bilious man is seldom a broad cast case. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids, but none for solids of a morning. The tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and chronic constipation may be a symptom or the two may alternate. There are often hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and dizziness or faintness and vertigo, and in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this it is not effect a cure try Green's August Flower, it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

A Horse-tail How. A long story came to the fore Judge O'Melveny yesterday. John Harrington is the plaintiff in the case, and claims from C. Ranney and C. T. M. Bowers the sum of $5000 for false imprisonment. In October, 1886, Harrington was brought to Los Angeles from Cucamonga Station, in San Bernardino county, being charged with a misdemeanor. It was alleged that Harrington docked the tails of three horses belonging to J. D. Brown, brother of the plaintiff. The plea is set up by the plaintiff that he was unlawfully deprived of his liberty, and damaged in health and finances.

That Blunder. P. M. Hartley was yesterday brought before Justice Taney in the Township Court on the charge of having maliciously broken up a lot of furniture in the house of P. Navarro, who he robbed. On the 29th of May Hartley awakened other men who were sleeping in the same apartment as himself by the noise he made in throwing the furniture out of the window. The defendants, the men having been so extraordinarily, bethinking himself, and taking into consideration the fact that he has been in jail for some time, the District Attorney did not press the charge and the Court ordered his discharge.

"HARMONY" is what the Herald wants among the local Democrats just now—the harmony that is found among thieves.

If the sports want a racetrack, let them make one. The proposition to let them have a city street on which they may drive over children and infirm people should not be entertained.

A DEMOCRATIC contemporary says the red bandana is the Democracy's "oriflame" of war. The average Democratic proboscis makes a pretty good "oriflame" also.

The jackdaw on Second street still sits on the fence, flaps its wings and screeches at a great rate about gambling in general, and public morality in particular, in order to divert the attention of the public from his nest.

THE Herald is badly demoralized on the gambling question. Its gyrations resemble those of a young puppy, which has been caught by the mistress of the house with its head in a cream pitcher.

"GAMBLING has stopped," says the Herald. Right you are, brother, thanks to the persistent determination of a majority of the Police Board and in spite of continued objection to its suppression by the Chief, backed by the Los Angeles Daily Herald.

AN Indiana delegate to the St. Louis Convention recently remarked: "We Democrats never had a chance but we made fools of ourselves." In view of this remark we must confess that Democrats may be credited with outspoken honesty sometimes.

"COL. EASTMAN," after spending two hours in Kansas City, telegraphs to the Trombone that Blaine can be elected. That certainly ought to settle it. This authoritative statement will save the followers of the Plumed Knight a vast amount of needless anxiety. As goes the Kansas City depot and the Trombone, so goes the Union. See?

If the action of the Pacific Coast delegation is correctly reported by telegraph, they appear to have treated John Sherman with unjustifiable animus and in a very unfair manner. The delegates have an undoubted right to unite upon any candidate and to decide to do all in their power to secure his nomination, but to single out a candidate for united opposition, by saying that they "will not vote for him under any circumstances," is not only unfair but indiscreet, and may lead the delegation into a very humiliating position.

Among the sincere mourners for the good Emperor who has gone before the Jews of Germany, who for years before the accession of the Emperor Frederick to the throne were the subjects of various and untiring persecutions. But these he promptly put an end to and extended to them the same protection and freedom as was granted to his other subjects. Religious as well as political Germany sustains a heavy loss in the death of the good Emperor.

POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

The Pacific Coast delegates arrive at Chicago. Meeting of the National Republican Committee to arrange preliminaries for the convention. More interviews with delegates. Meeting of the Tariff Reform Club at New York. Close of the session of the Typographical Union at Kansas City. Two persons killed by lightning at Princeton, N. J. Gen. Sheridan still doing well. Fatal quarrel at San Francisco. Review of the situation at Berlin by cable letter. An alleged stogie robber arrested at Fresno. Excitement among sealers at Victoria, B. C. Democratic ratification meetings held at San Bernardino and Santa Barbara. Live lobsters to be placed in Pacific waters near San Francisco. Emperor William III issues orders to the German army and navy. A train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road robbed. A warehouse at Zanesville, O., destroyed by an explosion. Mrs. Diss de Barr convicted. Large fire at Vermilion, Ill. Meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors. Yesterday's baseball games. Summary of the races. The Army Appropriation Bill passed by the House. Disastrous storms in New England and New York. Parnell charged with writing a letter inciting crime. The Supreme Court again rules against Anschlag. Teemer wins a boatrace. Close of the St. Louis Sengerfest. The Mississippi River still rising.

The Coming Convention.

Within a week from now—perhaps within three days—we shall know who is to be the standard-bearer of the Republican party in the coming campaign. While we, in common with most other patriotic citizens, have individual views in regard to the most fitting man for the highest office in the gift of the people, we are ready to sink such preference in favor of any other worthy man whom the duly elected representatives of the Republican party may decide upon and to support the nominee to the best of our ability. Our desire is to see a man nominated whose character, ability and aims are as high as those of the grand party which he is to represent; a man who is a statesman first, a good partisan next, and a patriotic American above all; a man who looks upon politics not as an end, but merely as a means to the attainment of a pure and strong government; a man, in short, upon whom American citizens may enthusiastically unite, as a worthy and fitting President, the greatest and grandest Nation which ever existed upon the face of the earth. With such a leader, the success of the Republican party, already assured, will be as certain as any future event can possibly be.

In a Nutshell.

The gambling question in a nutshell, stripped of all "fair game," "moral standing," and other unnecessary and irrelevant verbiage: A number of gambling games, conducted by white men, the addresses of several of which we have given; also, a still larger number of Chinese games, have for many years been running semi-openly in this city, with the knowledge and connivance of the various Chiefs of Police, and paying large weekly sums for permission to thus violate the law. After a long and determined fight by the majority of the present Police Board, the Chief of Police consented to do his duty and close the games, which he had heretofore plainly and decidedly refused to do, in which dereliction of duty he was strongly and continuously sustained by the Los Angeles Herald. On the same evening that the Chief came to this virtuous conclusion the games closed and have remained closed, with an occasional intermission of a few hours' duration. As the Herald truly and graphically says: Gambling is suppressed. It shall be our aim to see that it remains suppressed.

Seventy-seven columns of flamboyant Heraldic editorials cannot alter or impair these cold, hard, incontrovertible facts.

The Doubtful States—An Encouraging Outlook.

Next to the speculation regarding the Republican Presidential candidates, the probable standing of the doubtful States is the most interesting political question of the day.

Leaving out New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana, the other States in 1884 gave 182 electoral votes to the Republicans and 153 to the Democrats. The number of electoral votes necessary to a choice is 201. Supposing the States—with exception of the four above mentioned—vote this year as in 1884, they would give the Republicans 19 less than the number required to elect, and the Democrats 48 less than the requisite number. The deficiency must be made up from the four doubtful States—New York, 36 votes; New Jersey, 9; Connecticut, 6; and Indiana, 15. It will thus be seen that, under these circumstances, New York is absolutely indispensable to the Democrats. Should they carry the other three doubtful States and lose New York, the result would be against them. On the other hand, the Republicans can get along without New York. They can afford to give the Democrats Connecticut and still have five votes more than are necessary, or New Jersey, and still have a surplus of two votes.

When we come to investigate the outlook of these three doubtful States—Connecticut, New Jersey and Indiana—the result is by no means of a very encouraging nature to the Democracy. Cleveland carried Indiana in 1884 by a plurality of 6527. In 1886, however, on the vote for Lieutenant Governor, the Republican candidate, Robertson, had a plurality of 3824—a Democratic loss of nearly 10,000. The vote for Congressional candidates in 1886 showed a Republican plurality of 6192. When we take this in connection with the divisions caused in the Democratic ranks of that State by the dissensions between the McDonald and Gray factions, the prospect becomes rather gloomy for our Democratic friends, especially when we remember that the Indianapolis tally-sheet frauds and the subsequent attempts of the Administration to shield the culprits have disgusted many good Indiana Democrats. The manner in which Gray was set down upon in the Democratic Convention and Voorhees's warning remarks: "You cannot win without Indiana!" are fresh in the minds of our readers, and no candid observer will maintain that the Democratic chances in that State are as good as they were in 1886.

Turning to Connecticut, we find that Cleveland's plurality there in 1884 was only 1276. Connecticut is a great manufacturing State, whose industries are deeply involved in the tariff question, and it does not need a very sanguine view of the case to believe that the fatal blunder of the Democrats in antagonizing home industries will more than remove the small majority by which they carried Connecticut in 1884. In New Jersey the tariff is also a most important issue. That State was carried in 1884 by a plurality of 4412. In the Congressional election of 1886 the Republicans had a plurality of 3238. It is fair to presume that, with protection as a battle cry, they can roll up a yet larger majority this year.

Thus, it will be seen that the outlook for Republican success this year is very bright. We may win all the doubtful States. We only need two of them. Cleveland was made possible in 1884 by the sulking in their tents of a small discontented contingent of the Republican army, but Cleveland plus free trade is altogether too large and offensive a pill for the American voter to swallow. With any two fair, honest, representative Americans on the ticket, we look upon a Republican victory this fall as a foregone conclusion.

THE LONDON NEWS in commenting on the doings of the Democratic convention at St. Louis approves most heartily the work accomplished, and asserts its belief that Cleveland will sweep the country, and that the Republican party as it now exists will become a thing of the past. All this is in keeping with the free-trade sentiment of England, and beyond doubt the wish that it might be so is the father of the thought. But the Republican party is not dead yet. It has vitality enough left to defeat Grover Cleveland and free trade, and to defend the best interests of the country against all the encroachments of its enemies.

HERE is a bit of interesting information that it would be wise for our American wage-workers to consider, as it is a straw which points to the political sympathies of Cleveland and his free-trade adherents. The most extensively circulated badge in St. Louis the past week bearing the likeness of Grover Cleveland was manufactured, not in this land and by our protected workmen, but in free-trade England. Says the Ohio State Journal: "This is a significant and practical illustration of the principles for which Cleveland and the Democracy stand. It is a condition that confronts us—not a theory."

The Trombone first tooted Blaine, in response to popular clamor. When the "hurrah" changed around to Gresham, it tooted him. Now it sees signs of another Blaine boom, and jumps around to that quarter again. All this without any comprehension—much less conviction—of the superlative desirability of either of these aspirants, but because the one aim of its existence is to be on the popular side and to cater to the prevailing popular sentiment, be it right or wrong. The Trombone would rather be successful than be right every time. The Trombone is a truckling, time-serving sheet, and the public have long since found that out.

MYRIADS of locusts are making their appearance in Iowa and Illinois. Although this must be a relief from the monotony of blizzards and floods, there are doubtless many who object to all these natural phenomena. To such, we would repeat the hint that there is still plenty of uncultivated fertile land in Southern California.

It is time that the law regarding the rate of speed at which locomotives may run within the city limits should cease to be a dead letter. The Southern Pacific is specially guilty in this matter on its San Pedro and Santa Monica branches. The wonder is not that accidents occur, but that lives are not lost daily.

THE asserted absence of the festive burglar, the high tone of our general morality and the fair fame of the Angelic City have no more to do with the case under consideration—the suppression of certain well-known gambling games in Los Angeles—than the flowers that bloom in the spring, trail!

AN astute correspondent of the Trombone is informed that John Tyler never ran for President, but he ran for Vice-President in 1840. Any further intricate and obscure facts in American history will be cheerfully furnished on request.

THE Chicago Globe represents Steve White as complaining because the St. Louis people charged twenty-five cents for a plate of strawberries and cream. We don't see what the Democrats had to growl at, as long as the price of beer was not raised.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE JORAN CONCERT.—The Joran sisters had already been heard and admired at one or two private musicales, but their benefit last night the public was given its first opportunity to judge, and its verdict was heartily enthusiastic. A very good, very representative and very musical audience nearly filled Turner Hall, last night, to hear the following programme:

BEFORE THE FIGHT.

Latest Aspect of the Chicago Situation.

Elkins Said to Have Been Primed by "Gail Hamilton."

Blaine's Boom on the Wane—The Sherman Movement Growing.

The Mahone Party in Favor of the Ohio Man—Pennsylvania's Delegation Probably Still for Him—The Temporary Chairmanship Still Uncertain.

By Telegram to The Times.

CHICAGO, June 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—A careful review of the situation tonight leads to the belief that it is the sense of the gathering now here under the influence of many of the strongest men to nominate Blaine is impossible, except in the contingency that the convention ballots for day without making a choice, and the candidates unite in Mr. Blaine's interest. It is undeniable that a few of the Blaine men would like to have the work of the convention so shaped as to make Mr. Blaine the outcome, and they are supposed in certain quarters to be making an effort to that end.

There is a rumor that Steve Elkins and R. C. Kerens have a letter in duplicate from Miss Dodge ("Gail Hamilton"), written two days after the Paris letter of Mr. Blaine, in which the statement is made: "If the country insists upon having Mr. Blaine for its leader he will accept, and immediately return home and begin the canvass." It is asserted by those who should know that the facts about this matter are that the letter was written just after the Florence letter and not after the Paris letter of Blaine, and was addressed to Elkins. A significant feature of it is that Elkins and Kerens have been conferring as to whether they would publish the letter or not, and have allowed the fact to leak out that they have such a letter. This means that Elkins and Kerens and some others of the "old guard" would like to help along the Blaine movement.

At a dinner at the Grand Pacific Hotel, at which were present ex-Senator Platt, Mr. Halsted, Senator Forney, and Quay and others, the Blaine matter came up, and the opinion seemed to be that thus far the Pacific Coast effort had not created a decided ripple. The California men, however, have not abated in their advocacy of Blaine, and declare that they will place his name in nomination.

DELEGATES AT SEA.

It has been agreed upon by the leaders from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut that they will, if possible, unite upon a candidate. With Dewey out, as at present figured, they are all at sea. This is one of the great uncertainties of the convention. Although the Dewey movement seems nearly dead now on account of western opposition, still there are certain indications that by Tuesday or Wednesday Dewey's chances may be away up again. General Harrison, in his declaration says that the New York and New Jersey leaders agreed upon Judge Gresham immediately after the Buffalo convention, but within a few days a story came out that they abandoned him for fear of the effect it would have on the foreign-born voters. For a time then they leaned toward Harrison, but they have had no count of his Chinese record and other reasons. Gen. Alger was then made the favorite and was upmost to their minds when they left home, but they have heard so many stories about the use of money that they have become frightened lest an Alger campaign would be denounced as "bribe" campaign, and they are still, to this writing, absolutely without a candidate. Sherman is clearly in the lead, and his friends claim that he will go into the convention with over 300 votes. How long he will last, or how fast he can improve, they cannot venture a prediction, but are very hopeful. Senators Elkins and Quay are working hard for Sherman. Neither Allison nor Harrison appear to be making much headway tonight. Alger is gaining ground, but he is still a long way from Judge Gresham, who is holding his own.

BLAINE'S SON FOR GRESHAM.

Walker Blaine, son of James G. Blaine, was a visitor at the Gresham headquarters last night, and, before leaving, signed a book containing names of callers favorable to the Republican cause. He has no doubt, the reporter casually remarked to Blaine that there seemed to be quite a movement for his father. "I think the Grayson crowd will have none of them," he said. "I am not a politician, and I do not think, from the present outlook, any such action will be necessary."

ARRANGING PRELIMINARIES.

The Temporary Chairmanship Unsettled—Dakota's Claim.

CHICAGO, June 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Republican National Committee met this evening to make arrangements for the temporary organization of the convention.

Mr. Conger of Ohio moved that the committee proceed at once to the selection of a chaplain, temporary chairman, two secretaries, four reading secretaries, five assistant secretaries and an official stenographer.

Stephen B. Elkins suggested a delay until Monday, particularly as to the selection of temporary chairman. Mr. Elkins said that he only asked for the postponement to give the delegates time to express their preferences. A number of committeemen opposed the delay on the ground that it was unnecessary.

M. D. Foley of Nevada intimated that the Pacific Coast delegates were among those who desired delay.

A disposition to gratify any reasonable request from the coast men was at once manifested.

The question of other temporary officers of the convention was then proceeded with. Rev. F. W. Gunsalus, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church of Chicago, was unanimously selected to open the first session of the convention with prayer, and Rev. G. A. Northrup of Indiana on the second day.

Hon. Michael Griffin of Wisconsin was named by Mr. Payne for one temporary secretary. Mr. Lawrence moved to appoint George W. R. Clisbee of Michigan. Both were accepted unanimously.

For reading secretaries, Mr. Hooker named Henry Ballard of Vermont. Mr. Conger moved David Laning of Ohio. Mr. Leland named Col. Carson Lake of New York. Mr. Sanborn of Michigan moved John H. Stone, and Mr. Little added George M. Brinkert of Illinois. The number of reading secretaries was increased to six, and all named were selected.

Thomas J. Bragan of Tennessee was suggested by Mr. Brown for assistant secretary, and was at once selected. T. Bixby of Minnesota, Henry M. Cooper of Arkansas and William Nelson of New Jersey were also made assistant secretaries. The names of the names of A. W. Monroe of Maryland, J. E. Wiley of Texas, John T. Miner of Louisiana and C. M. Shinn of West Virginia were added.

The selection of an official stenographer was left to a subcommittee of arrangements.

Hon. William R. King of Tennessee, editor of the only Republican daily paper published south of the Ohio River, was honored with a temporary position of secretary, and the number of secretaries was for this purpose increased to three.

Dakota's claim came up in an entirely new shape. Unlike last night, it was now a matter of votes, not seats.

New of Indiana moved that the National

The New Ruler at Present Under Bismarck's Thumb, but Diplomats Fear That He Will Soon Follow His Own Devices—First Orders.

By Telegram to The Times.
BERLIN, June 16.—(Copyrighted, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.) The first full declaration of the new Emperor's policy is now understood as taking the form of an address to the Prussian people, which is expected to be issued on Tuesday. The Reichstag will be summoned to meet June 25th to receive the message, and shortly afterward the Emperor will formally take the oath of constitution before the Landtag. The impression in ministerial circles is that the address will be brief; that it will be explicit upon the Emperor's desire to maintain peace, and will be guarded upon the subject of the relations between the Crown and the people.

The remains of Emperor Frederick were placed in a coffin tonight and then carried to the catafalque which has been erected in the Jasper gallery. The coffin is identical with that in which Emperor William was buried.

A POST-MORTEM HELD.
Prof. Vessilow, Waldeyer and Bergmann went to Frederick's Palace at the request of Emperor William and remained for two hours. Their presence gave rise to an accurate report that Emperor William had ordered a post-mortem examination to be made, although the Dowager Empress Victoria was averse to it. Besides the doctors who conducted the autopsy Count von Stolberg-Wienegerode, Count Chamberlain, remained during the examination, which proved the existence of cancer. Dr. MacKenzie's friends state that he concurred in the finding of the post-mortem.

The transfer of the remains to their final resting place will take place on Monday morning. Among those who have already arrived to attend the funeral are the King of Saxony, Grand Duke of Hesse and Duke Saxe-Weimar.

ITALY'S MESSAGE.
Prince Bismarck has received the following telegram from Sig. Crispi, Italian Prime Minister:

"The misfortune that has befallen your country has also plunged Italy into mourning. Though foreseen and dreaded for a long time, this end, so tragic in its simplicity and grandeur, is a cruel blow to our sovereigns, who have lost a tried friend. The Italian Nation, which saw in Frederick a sympathetic and venerated personification of the glorious German Nation, is a faithful ally of your Government. The King transmits an expression of his profound sorrow, together with his ardent wishes for the prosperity of the new Emperor's reign. Accept my personal assurance of sincere sympathy in your sorrow. It needs all the strength of mind your Highness has given proof of to bear with fortitude such painful losses occurring at such short intervals."

Emperor William and Empress Victoria will reside in the marble palace, where the Emperor today received Count von Stolberg-Wienegerode, Count Eulenberg and other ministers.

THE NEW EMPEROR'S POLICY.
The Berlin press as yet refers only in suggestive allusions to the political result of the ascension of Emperor William to the throne. The appearance of today's message to the army is the first public act of the new Emperor, and has quickened public perception of the fact that Germany is entering upon a new regime. No person expects immediate developments pointing to a critical state of affairs, but all the best informed military and diplomatic authorities are aware that the final outcome may be of the present political situation.

As Crown Prince he freely expressed the view that the condition of armed suspense in Europe for over two years ought to come to an end, that the triple alliance was able to defeat any possible coalition and ought not to wait for a convenient time to open the attack. His deep and open admiration for Prince Bismarck is considered as likely to bind him for some time to the Chancellor's policy, but it is not without an end, that the triple alliance was able to defeat any possible coalition and ought not to wait for a convenient time to open the attack. THE NEW EMPEROR.
William II issues Orders to the Army and Navy.

BERLIN, June 16.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) The troops of the garrison have taken the oath of allegiance to Emperor William II. The Emperor's first order, August 1, is expected to arrive at Potsdam today.

Emperor William II has issued the following general order to the army:

"While the army has only just discarded signs of mourning for Emperor William I, my deeply revered grandfather, whose memory will ever live in all hearts, it has suffered a fresh and heavy blow by the death of my dear and dearly loved father. This, indeed, a serious and sorrowful time, in which God's decree places me at the head of the army. It is from a deeply moved heart I address my first words to my army, but the confidence with which I step into the place to which God's will calls me, is immovably strong, and I know what a sense of honor and duty my glorious ancestors have implanted in the army, and I know in how great a measure this feeling has at all times been manifested in the army. Firm and inviolable attachment has been manifested in the army—firm and inviolable attachment to the war is the inheritance handed down from father to son, from generation to generation, and in the same way I refer you to my grandfather, who stands fresh in all your memories as the personification of the glorious and venerable war lord, such as could not be more finely conceived or in form more speaking to the heart. I refer you to my beloved father, who as Crown Prince has already won a place of honor in the annals of the army, and to the long line of glorious ancestors whose names shine brightly in history and whose hearts beat firmly for the army. Thus we belong to each other, I and the army; thus we were born for one another; thus we will stand together in an indivisible body in peace or in war, as God may will it. You now take the oath of fidelity and obedience, and swear ever to remember that the eyes of my ancestors look down upon me from the other world, and that I shall some day have to render an account of my conduct."

(Signed) "Frederickström, June 16th."

ADDRESS TO THE NAVY.
The following order has been issued to the navy:

"I have to inform the navy with deeply moved regret that my beloved father, Emperor Frederick I, has departed this life peacefully in the Lord, and I, stepping to the place assigned by God's will, have assumed the government of the land, falling to me by hereditary right, and herewith also the chief command of the navy. It is indeed a profoundly grave period in which I address my first words to the navy, which has only just discarded the outward signs of mourning for my ever-revered and much beloved grandfather, Emperor William I, who only last year expressed in warmest words his lively satisfaction at and appreciation of the navy under his glorious government. Flags are already lowered for my much-beloved father, who so greatly rejoiced at and took so strong interest in the growth and progress of the navy. Yet the time of deep and sincere mourning has passed, and the navy must now turn its thoughts to the future, while fully preserving in our hearts the memory of my grandfather and father. The navy knows that it not only gives me a great joy to belong to it by an external bond, but that since my earliest youth a warm and lively interest has, in complete sympathy with my dear brother, Prince Henry, united me with the navy. I have learned to appreciate the high sense of honor and faithful fulfillment of duty prevailing in the navy, and I know that every member of the navy is prepared joyfully to give his life for the honor of the German flag, whoever he may be. Thus in this end I can say with all confidence that we shall stand together firmly and surely in good or evil days as in the sunshine, ever remembering that the eyes of my grandfather and father ever prepared to shed our hearts' blood for the honor of the German flag. In this God's blessing will be with us."

GEN. SHERIDAN DOING WELL.
Gen. Sheridan had a fairly good day. His desire for food, and his capacity for taking and assimilating it, appears to be increasing. No more official bulletins will be issued tonight unless a decided change for the worse occurs in the condition of the patient. A bulletin will be issued tomorrow evening at the usual hour.

BONDS ACCEPTED.
The Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon accepted the following bonds: Four, registered, $62,000 at $1.27½; 4s, coupons, $17,000 at $1.27½; 4½s, coupon, $5000 at $1.07; 4½s, registered, $3500 at $1.07.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.
WASHINGTON (D. C.), June 16.—(By the Associated Press.) House.—Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill and gave notice that he would call it up for action at the earliest possible moment. It appropriates $23,714,798.

The House went into committee of the whole on the Army Appropriation Bill. On motion of Mr. Rowell of Illinois an amendment "was adopted appropriating $300,000 for beginning the construction of the new military post near Chicago."

Mr. Ford of Michigan moved an amendment appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of powder for the military and revenue salaries at military posts. Adopted.

Mr. Tracy of New York offered a resolution appropriating $100,000 for the enlargement of the vaults of the National Arsenal in New York, and $400,000 for the manufacture of cannon and carriages, projectiles for torpedo experiments and expenses of ordnance officers.

Messrs. Tracy and Spaulding of New York set out the public demand for adequate coast defenses, and argued that the Fortification Appropriation Bill might again fail of passage, leaving the great cities on the coast exposed for another year to attack.

Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania made a point of order against the amendment. He said that science had so advanced that had the last fortification bill become a law the money would have been absolutely wasted.

Mr. Chairman Springer sustained the point of order and the amendment was ruled out.

On motion of Mr. Laird of Nebraska a provision was added to the paragraph relating to post supplies requiring them to be purchased where they can be purchased cheapest, quality, cost and transportation considered.

The committee rose and the bill passed. Adjourned.

THE TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.
KANSAS CITY, June 16.—The International Typographical Union completed its work this evening and adjourned. The new constitution, which was adopted, increases the per capita tax from 10 cents to 40 cents per month. The agitation of the question of establishing a home for disabled printers resulted in the whole matter being left to the decision of the various local organizations. It was also decided that 25 percent of the capitation tax shall be reserved for the sickness relief fund. Abundant funds were also established, providing that in case of the death of a member of the union, $75 shall be appropriated for funeral expenses.

INDIAN TERRITORY "Scene of Another Outrage."
MUSKOGEE (L. T.), June 16.—(By the Associated Press.) The south-bound Missouri, Kansas and Texas express was robbed about 9 o'clock at Verdigris Bridge. The train had stopped at the bridge to put off some baggage. The engineer was covered with a revolver. Before the express messenger could close the door, two men entered the car and robbed him of a valuable package. One shot was fired into the mail car, the bullet passing through the left arm of the mail agent. Two shots were fired in the front of the smoking car, one going through the right forehead of Harry Ryan. The other struck Ben C. Taylor in the left cheek, and passing backward broke his neck, causing instant death. The wounded messenger brought to this place by Deputy Marshal Tyson and a posse are preparing to pursue as soon as they can cross the Arkansas River.

There were seven men engaged in the robbery. No effort was made to rob the passengers. The leader of the robbers gave his name as Capt. Jack.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE STORY OF JOAQUIN MURRIETA AND ROSITA.

A Story of Injustice, Revenge and Crime—Letters from the Little Ones—Some Bright Wilmington Boys and Girls—Silk-worms.

There was terrible meaning in that word to Joaquin and Rosita. It meant the breaking up of their mountain home. No more could they watch the sunrise on the mountain peaks or see the quiet shadow fall among the hills. The cabin with the bright flowers about it which Rosita's pretty hands had planted must be forsaken. It was useless to appeal to the pity of the ruffians. Their bearded faces were like the wild beasts in cruelty. Their muskets were loaded, and unless they hastened Joaquin knew that the outlaws would not hesitate to fire upon him and Rosita. A few small articles they were allowed to take with them, and they turned to go, while the ruffians followed close behind them, locked the door and shut them out from their home forever.

What wonder that Joaquin grew angry and all the worst passions in his heart were stirred? What wonder as he took the hand of Rosita, who was weeping bitterly, that he vowed vengeance on the men and the race who were so cruel and unjust to him and who had made him a wanderer? His black eyes flashed with the strong fire of his wrath.

"By heaven, I will have their hearts," Rosita, he exclaimed. "They drive us out like dogs, but they shall learn that we are fierce wolves, and like them can hunt for our prey. Wipe your eyes my pretty one, and I will yet show you that your Joaquin is able to defend you."

Rosita could not speak, she only pressed his hand in silence, and then they went on, not caring whether, for they had no home; they were lonely wanderers.

How fortunate it was that the blue sky bent above them so pityingly, and that the nights were so warm they could sleep with comfort under the forest trees.

Joaquin was a splendid horseman, a very necessary accomplishment for a robber chief, such as Joaquin afterward became. Some time after he had been driven from his home, he went to see a half-brother, who had a magnificent horse. This animal Joaquin borrowed and rode proudly into town. Riding gaily onward upon his prancing steed, he was met by an American, who accused him of having stolen the beautiful animal.

"You do me wrong," said Joaquin. "I would stoop to no such deed. The horse is one that I borrowed of my brother, who lives on yonder ranch."

But the half-drunk crowd of miners who gathered round him would not listen to his protestations of innocence. The ugly mob pulled him from his saddle, crying, "Kill the thief! hang the greaser!"

It was in vain that he struggled. They carried him hastily to his brother's ranch, and there they seized his brother and hung him from the branch of a tree until he was dead. But they did not kill Joaquin, but stripped him of his clothing and bound him to the trunk of the same tree where hung the dead body of his brother, and there they left him with a heavy lash till the blood ran from his wounds, and all his back was torn and bleeding.

It was this awful cruelty that made of Joaquin Murrieta a bold and cruel outlaw, a robber chief who gathered his men about him to kill and plunder every American who came across his path. Men were shot down everywhere and robbed. Joaquin's movements were rapid. He often surprised men when they thought him far away. He gathered treasure and hid it in mountain caves. He left the dead along the paths he traveled. He had from 20 to 30 robbers in his band, and the name of Joaquin Murrieta became a terror to the country. The band were all splendidly mounted on fleet horses. Riding on these they often lassoed and dragged their victims to death.

I am sure that it would make my young readers shudder to read the awful tales of murder that are told of this bold chief and his band. He was as full of daring as Robin Hood, but the wrongs that had been done him made him more cruel and revengeful. He was a terror to the whole State, and large rewards were offered for his capture. One morning in the latter part of July the robber chief and his men were in camp near the Tejon Pass. Six of them were busy about a small fire, cooking the breakfast for themselves and the rest of the band. Joaquin stood a little apart, beside his splendid steed, with his hand resting lightly on its mane, when a party of rangers burst full speed into the camp and surprised them. The chief called to his men to save themselves as best they could, then he leaped into his saddle and dashed down the mountain like the wind. He leaped his horse over a precipice, where he fell, but he was soon upon his feet again, while at his heels dashed the pursuing rangers. Soon the horse was shot in the side and fell, but Joaquin ran on foot until he was surrounded by the rangers. When he lifted his hand and turned to his pursuers he said: "It is enough. The work is done." And then he reeled, and sinking slowly down upon the ground, his handsome face grew pale, the lids closed over his dark eyes, his pulse ceased to beat, and Joaquin Murrieta, the man who had been so wronged, and who in revenge had committed so many deeds of blood and violence, was dead. It is a sad story, one of the saddest in the history of the State, because it is a story of injustice, revenge and crime.

These nice little letters from Wilmington did not reach me until too late for last Sunday's TIMES. I hope my little friends were not greatly disappointed in not seeing them in the paper. When letters are not published I want my young correspondents to understand that it is because they are received too late for insertion.

WILMINGTON, June 6.
Dear Mrs. Otis: I am almost 9 years old. My mamma is dead. She died when I was 5 months old. My papa is living. Papa is working on the header. After my mamma died I lived with Mrs. N. W. Bailey six years and a half. Since that I lived with my papa, and we boarded out. I am now living at Willie Springs. I came here last Sunday. GEORGE LECOMPTON.
I am glad my little friend can live with his papa. I think it very sad for one to have neither father or mother to care for them. I hope, too, that you have fine times with Willie.
And here comes another letter from Wilmington, down by the sea. No. My dear, you are not too old to write for the boys and girls' column, and I am very much obliged for your letter. WILMINGTON, June 6, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I see so many nice letters and I am so interested in them that I think I will write, too. I will be 12 years old this month. I don't know but I am too old to write to the paper. Two years ago this August we rented our place and had a good long rest. We went to San Diego camping. We went the coast road and came back over the mountains, and of all the mountains I ever saw I saw then. Some of them were so steep. I was afraid we would meet some one on the roads which were so narrow that no one could pass. When we came back we bought a house and lot in Wilmington and lived there, and my brother and I went to school. I wish papa could sell his farm, so we could live nearer school. The roads are so long and dusty in summer. My brother Willie told you how far we lived from Wilmington in his last letter. I have a little brother Arthur. He has had the whooping-cough lately, but is now getting better. He is getting old enough to be sweet. Yours respectfully,
CORA E. SPRING.

WILMINGTON, June 6, 1888.
Dear Mrs. Otis: I saw my letter in the MIRROR, and I was very proud of it. I have a colt that is almost old enough to ride. Mamma has about a hundred mulberry trees. Papa thinks there are enough leaves to feed a hundred thousand silk-worms, and they were loaded down with berries, and papa sells most all of them at San Pedro. I think we will have a great many grapes. We have an old cat with five little kittens. There is a little girl staying at our house. Sometimes I go with papa. I saw a great many ships, and so many were loading and unloading.
WILLIE O. SPRING.

P.S.—Can you tell us where we can get silk-worm eggs?
Yes; if you will write to Mrs. Jennie O. Carr of Pasadena. I think that you can obtain them, and I am sure that you would enjoy growing silk-worms.

SANTA ANA, June 10, 1888.
Dear Mrs. E. A. O.: I thought I would write to the MIRROR boys and girls. I am 10 years old. I go to school in Santa Ana and like it very well. They are going to have only one week more of school. I am in the third reader. It is promotion time now.

There is a motor road just by our door. I saw the cars today. It goes to Fairview. We shall have a nice ride when it gets to running.

Santa Ana is a nice place. I like to read the Boys and Girls Column. I like to read about the bold Joaquin Murrieta and his wife Rosita. I hope this letter will add another to your list. I have a little sister 5 years old and her name is Mable. She is learning to read and to write.

There are two schoolhouses in Santa Ana. One they call the new building and the other they call the old building. The lower classes are in the old building and the higher classes are in the new building. Everything is handy, I tell you. My teacher's name is Miss Hall.

We buy the MIRROR every week. Yours,
OSCAR EDINGER.

That is a pleasant letter. I am always pleased to know what our boys and girls are doing. And here are some more nice letters from my little soldier friends:
FR. UNION, June 10, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I thought I would write you another letter. We live in an adobe house. My brother Bowers and I have a tent in the yard for a play-house. Bowers Davis was 7 years old last Sunday. We had a birthday cake with eight candles on it—one candle to grow on. We are having a hair-cut today. Your truly,
EMILY DAVIS.

That birthday cake must have been lovely, and I hope my little friend will live to have a great many more birthday parties.
Here is another letter from the soldier boy himself, and I enjoyed reading it, as you all will.

FR. UNION, June 10, 1888.
Dear Mrs. Otis: I am glad you liked my letter, so I thought I would write you again. I have two burros, Daisy and Jack. Jack is the little burro. He follows behind when I ride on Daisy. I forgot to tell you that my burro, Daisy, was captured from the Indians. It was at the time the old Indian chief, Geronimo, surrendered to Gen. Miles. You asked me to tell you about the fort. We have guard mount at 9 o'clock every morning, when the band plays. This is the season for target practice. We have dress parade and battalion drill during the whole year.

Yours truly,
BOWERS DAVIS.

I wouldn't like to see those fine burros of yours, and take a peep at your camp! It is a very pleasant picture of your camp life which you give us, and it must be fine to have a tent to play in. I hope that you and your little sister will tell the boys and girls of the TIMES-MIRROR more of your life upon the plains.

THE LANKERSHIM.

One of the Fine Sections of the County—Cheap and Good Land—A Tract with a Splendid Outlook for the Future.

The majority of eastern people have come to our section with just about enough money to purchase a few acres of land and build a temporary habitation. They have been here for some time, and in the course of time have had beautiful homes, and a possession that will be undiminished by the years. The land is rich, and the climate is healthy. The price of land has been within their reach, they could have spent the difference in improvements, and today there would be magnificent residences where there are but small, though neat, cottages.

The Lankershim Ranch Land and Water Company is an organization of gentlemen who purchased 12,000 acres of the Lankershim ranch, situated about two and a quarter miles to the west of Burbank. This holding has been the property of J. B. Lankershim, who cultivated it, and for years it was the largest and most important wheatear in Southern California. But the cereals were not the only line of vegetation that can be raised on the fine orchard in the old Lankershim ranch-house. Fruit delectable as well as profitable in planting common orchard and nut trees.

The ranch was surveyed and cut up into one, two, and three-acre tracts, besides a reservation for a townsite. The price of land was placed at a remarkably low figure, and the terms of payment were fixed on easy terms that any man of energy could afford to bind himself to take quite a rapid step to the westward. It was not long that the south had been purchased as rapidly as this, and since the last of the year there have been over 80,000 of land sold. Nearly 1000 acres have been put into fruit trees and vines, and the way that they are flourishing proves conclusively that the land is particularly and peculiarly adapted to fruit and vine-growing.

But in the case of the Lankershim land, it is as a floor, the majority of which is of that deep, dark land that is so rich and so fertile. There is no hardpan, and positively no alkali, and the land is of that richness that it is not only good for crops, but it is good for the soil. There are portions, however, that are not so rich, and the land is cleared of brush, deep-plowed, and the soil is so rich that it is good for crops, but it is good for the soil.

There are portions, however, that are not so rich, and the land is cleared of brush, deep-plowed, and the soil is so rich that it is good for crops, but it is good for the soil.
